

(This information, which is recommended to be included, can be communicated through any of several means including a paper-based referral form, a detailed clinical note from the last appointment, or a template within the electronic medical record [EMR].)

